Location

The Greenwich Hotel is located in one of New York's most desirable neighborhoods, at the corner of Greenwich Street and North Moore Street in TriBeCa. The West Side Highway is one block away, and the Hudson River just beyond. As with most Manhattan addresses, around-town and out-bound transportation are all convenient, depending upon traffic, public transportation situations and demand. Both Pennsylvania Station and Grand Central Station may be reached within minutes via taxi or subway to Midtown, while JFK International Airport, La Guardia Airport and Newark International Airport run less than an hour by car.

Description

The Greenwich Hotel was conceived by Ira Drukier and Robert DeNiro, along with their partners Richard Born and Raphael De Niro, and created with a regard for comfort and hand-crafted beauty. Talented artisans from around the world created a warm and richly layered environment that celebrates craftsmanship and natural materials.

The common areas of the Greenwich set the tone for craftsmanship throughout. In the lobby, leaded glass windows and beams of reclaimed oak create a comfortable setting for morning coffee or evening cocktails. Just around the corner is the Drawing Room, similar in style. With 12-foot ceilings, bookshelves and a wood-burning fireplace, the Drawing Room is the perfect place to host a casual meeting or an intimate lunch. Lining one side of the room are antique mirrored glass and French doors that lead to a small courtyard, where guests can dine beneath latticed vines, or just look out at the greenery. To maintain its availability, this room is reserved only for hotel guests.

Guest Rooms & Suites

The Greenwich Hotel has 88 rooms, of which no two are alike. The furnishings draw from a wide range of cultural influences - from hand-loomed Tibetan silk rugs to the patterns of Moroccan tile, and hand-made Italian terracotta floors to reclaimed pine, oak, chestnut and hemlock wood details. Natural materials have been used throughout. Rooms have Dux beds, oak floors, soaking tubs, and small libraries.

The Greenwich Hotel has thirteen suites, some with saunas, others with working fireplaces. There are two duplex suites: the Greenwich and the N. Moore. Conceived as artist ateliers, both have soaring 30-foot skylights, chef's kitchens, two master bedrooms with two bathrooms, stone fireplaces, and offices with separate entrances. Each of these duplex residences can be expanded to accommodate up to five bedrooms.

On the top floor is a 2,500-square-foot penthouse. While within the hotel, it is more like a private residence. It will have two master bedrooms, with dressing areas, a full kitchen as well as a butler's pantry to serve any catering needs, a sky-lit dining room, and a media complex. It will open onto a large duplex roof top garden with a private hot tub and wonderful views of the city and Hudson River.

Guest Amenities

The amenities and services are as well considered as the hotel design. Houseguests can opt for in-room check-in, daily newspapers, and a refrigerator stocked with specialty items of their choice.

Additionally, The Greenwich offers a full array of amenities that sophisticated travelers have come to expect. This includes HDTV, iPod docking stations, free wireless Internet, and bath and body products developed especially for the hotel. Valet parking and a 24-hour concierge are also available at The Greenwich.

Dining

Locanda Verde is a casual neighborhood Italian inn adjoining The Greenwich Hotel, serving Andrew Carmellini's riffs on Italian cooking. It is an airy, bustling, high-ceilinged space, flooded with light and open to the street. Locanda Verde serves breakfast, lunch and dinner, in addition to providing 24 hour room service to the hotel. The dining room has shelves of wine and books, comfy banquettes, wooden tables, and a view of the wood-burning oven and the open kitchen. In summer, Locanda Verde has outdoor cafe seating on Greenwich Street's broad sidewalks.

Spa & Fitness Center

Shibui Spa is a true haven for relaxation and rejuvenation at The Greenwich. Available exclusively to hotel guests, the spa houses a lantern-lit swimming pool and lounge under the roof of a 250-year old wood and bamboo farmhouse that has been reconstructed in the hotel by Japanese craftsmen, some of whom are "Living National Treasures" of Japan.

There are four separate treatment rooms, as well as a room for relaxation either before or after treatments. Shibui has a shiatsu room; a traditional bathing room with a large tub for Japanese bathing rituals; a wet room that includes a shower for wraps and scrubs; and finally a treatment room where massages as well as facial treatments will be offered.

The fitness room is over 1,000 square feet, with more than 15 pieces of equipment. Its design has been integrated to fit the concept of Shibui, serenity, with old hemlock floors and hidden lights, coupled with the most state-of-the-art equipment. Trainers are always available.
